Zilber Ltd. Announces Leadership Changes

MILWAUKEE, WI - Zilber Ltd., a national real estate development and investment firm, announced today that Chad Navis has been promoted to Vice President where he will lead all commercial property activities of the company, which occur under the Zilber Property Group brand. Navis will be assuming all responsibilities previously held by John Kersey who is retiring after a 42-year career with the company. Kersey will remain a key member of the company's board of directors.

"Chad has been key to the growth and success of Zilber Property Group, since he joined us in 2006," said Jim Borris, President and CEO of Zilber Ltd. "With his proven, exceptional leadership skills, he is well positioned to lead our business strategy and growth initiatives well into the future. John has had an amazing 42-year legacy with us and in our community, and his fingerprints are all over what Zilber Ltd. is today. We are thrilled that he will continue to build upon that legacy in so many ways as a board member and trustee of our company."

Navis will join Bill Wigchers, Executive Vice President, and Sue Laabs, Vice President, CFO and Treasurer, as key executive officers of the company. Together they are responsible for all operations, strategic planning and financial affairs of Zilber's three major business brands: Zilber Property Group, industrial and office; Zilber Residential Group, multifamily apartments; and Homes by Towne / Towne Island Homes, single family and condominium homes.

"Chad, Bill and Sue, like many of our key employees, have all been with us for a very long time," said Borris. "We have rare tenure here at Zilber. It's what differentiates us and drives our company forward on behalf of our clients, communities, and stakeholders."
